‘ELECTRONIC ECLECTICS’ 3KSTATIC EXPLORE “THE NEW FACE OF BRITISH COAL”

JUNE 23 2023 – dPulse Recordings / Ovrton Music Group has announced the release of The New Face of British Coal, the new album from underground electronic collective 3kStatic.

Available on digital, disc and vinyl formats, The New Face of British Coal is a twelve-track concept album that uses the continued relevance of the 1984/85 UK coal miner’s strike as a starting point for the exploration of the evolution of Northern electronic music from that point forward.

Lead single “Yes, It Is” is an organic house signpost, fresh of a recent DJ pool chart run, where it peaked at #15 (Trending House), picking up DJ and terrestrial radio support.

The album is the second installment in a trilogy of stridently socially-aware concept releases that began with the recent collaborative album with Pulitzer and Emmy-award winning journalist Ian Urbina.

With releases on 20 labels worldwide since its inception in 1998, the 3kStatic collective project has collaborated with members / former members, of: Kansas; Yes; ELO, Part II; Cabaret Voltaire; Hula; Pop Will Eat Itself; Public Enemy; Parliament-Funkadelic; Public Image Ltd.; King Crimson and others.

3kStatic has also produced commissioned remixes for Ku-Ling Bros., KMFDM, Scum of the Earth, DJ Mea, Lords of Acid, Chris Vrenna (Nine Inch Nails), and many more.

The New Face of British Coal by 3kStatic is released on digital, disc & vinyl formats from June 23, 2023. All tracks published by Isolation Network Electronic Music, administered by Virgin Music Group.
